

PCA-Encounter

Here's how PCA-Encounter works:

The nurse or PA starts the visit, using a portable tablet computer. She or he uses Query to find the patient's scanned record from PCArchiver, then Open an exam form, and enters information with a stylus or microphone--no typing required. The exam form is the same one your office already uses for new or follow-up visits. We convert it for you to use with PCA-Encounter.

The doctor completes the visit using either a stylus or microphone to enter notes. A click on Save adds the form as a new page to the existing scanned chart.

Finally, the doctor or staff person opens the office's usual superbill, converted for use with PCA-Encounter. He or she notes diagnoses with circles, scribbles, or dropdown lists, and adds procedures, return visit, and other information. A click on Print sends the form to the front desk to arrive there before the patient does.

You still may use PCArchiver alone for to archive records, EOBs, contracts, and other papers. Add PCA-Encounter when you are ready.
